

A DELL EXPORT EDITION ■ ON SALE: FEBRUARY 1, 2008

Lloyd Jones' award winning* novel, set on a small Pacific island ravaged by civil war will now be available in paperback.

In a novel that is at once intense, beautiful, and fable-like, Lloyd Jones weaves a transcendent story that celebrates the resilience of the human spirit and the power of narrative to transform our lives.

On a tropical island shattered by war, where the teachers have fled with most everyone else, only one white man chooses to stay behind: the eccentric Mr. Watts, object of much curiosity and scorn, who sweeps out the ruined schoolhouse and begins to read to the children each day from Charles Dickens's classic Great Expectations.

So begins this rare, original story about the abiding strength that imagination, once ignited, can provide. As artillery echoes in the mountains, thirteen-year-old Matilda and her peers are riveted by the adventures of a young orphan named Pip in a city called London, a city whose contours soon become more real than their own blighted landscape. As Mr. Watts says, "A person entranced by a book simply forgets to breathe." Soon come the rest of the villagers, initially threatened, finally inspired to share tales of their own that bring alive the rich mythology of their past.

Praise for the Hardcover:

"[An] eloquent homage to the power of storytelling... Jones addresses head-on the effects of imperialism and the redemptive power of art."
—Booklist

"Genuinely affecting.... A book with worthwhile thoughts to impart."
—The New York Times

"Jones's prose is faultless... With a mixture of thrill and unease, Matilda discovers independent thought..."
—Publishers Weekly

Mister Pip was the winner of Commonwealth Writer's Prize and was nominated for the 2007 Man-Booker Award.
