

Fodor's Caribbean 2006* Named 'Best Travel Guidebook of the Year' by Society of American Travel Writers

FODOR'S CARIBBEAN 2006 has earned the highest award for a travel guidebook in the 22nd annual Lowell Thomas Travel Journalism Competition. The prestigious contest is overseen by the Society of American Travel Writers Foundation and judged by the faculty at the University of Missouri School of Journalism. It is the Gold Award winner in the guidebook category and designated "Best Travel Guidebook of the Year." Fodor's Travel is part of Random House, Inc., the world's largest English-language trade book publisher.

In bestowing the award, the Society of American Travel Writers described Fodor's Caribbean 2006 as "...astoundingly organized ... will answer virtually any question about the Caribbean that a traveler might ask. The contents as well as the sections called What's Where, Island Finder, If You Like and If You Want help readers get oriented. The island sections are consistently organized so that they can be scanned for information or enjoyably read. A lot of great information is packed into this book."

Fodor's Caribbean 2006 was one of the first books in Fodor's flagship "Gold Guide" series to be completely redesigned for more browsable, and experiential reading.

Covering over 300 destinations worldwide, Fodor's guidebooks have provided the most up-to-date, accurate information for travelers for more than seventy years. Written by a team of over 700 writers located around the globe, Fodor's guidebooks provide travelers with engagingly written, intelligently and accurately reported and absolutely indispensable travel guidance.
